By FRED B. PITNEY.

"Three of our aeroplanes, equipped with guns, engaged yesterday in several fights, above the German lines, near Dixmude, with enemy scouting aeroplanes of the Fokker type. One of our machines, attacked by a Fokker machine, had to descend, but an enemy aeroplane, attacked in turn by one of ours, which fired on it with machine gun from z distance of twenty-five metres, was brought down. A third French machine also attacked another Fokker, which fell in the forest of Houthulst, to the southeast of Dixmude."

Lendon, Jan. 12. The Austro-Germans appear to have abandoned hope of the recapture of the territory lost in the recent fighting, according to "The Morning Post's" Petrograd correspondent, and as a result of Russian pressure a general evaculation of the forward bases by both Germans and Austrians is proceeding vigorously.

"For months past," adds the correspondent, "they have been accumulating immense stores for a spring advance. Vladimir-Volynskyi was the forward base of the Austrian armies. the complete cessation of the American cottonseed meal export and the necessity of reserving for human consumption large quantities of grain, formerly fed to the cattle, has resulted in a milk shortage, which in certain localities threatens the lives of the babies and nursing mothers, and endangers the health of all the children and invalids.

"It is estimated that in Berlin there is sufficient milk to supply children only up to four years of age, and to invalids, is half of all the milk used. Milk tickets are being issued in Templehof. Prove Censuls Were Spies.

Numerous extracts from documents seized at Salonica when the consuls of the Teutonic Allies were arrested there recently were printed in this morning's newspapers. Among the papers, according to the published statements, were copies of daily reports telegraphed to Vienna by the Austrian Consul General giving the numbers and description of Allied troops that were landing at Salonica; reports of spies on the movements of Allied forces into the interior, and records of payments to these spies and to local newspapers.
